Master's Theses in the College of Human Sciences and Humanities

	before yo	faculty advisor the semester u begin a thesis to determine r a thesis is an appropriate capstone for you	Complete the master's course option form and submit to your thesis committee chair	Complete a thesis pro secure signature committee mem	es of 🔤
Submit thesis to dean's office for approval		with UHCL library staff for thesis review check	Revise as requested by all on committee until all have approve
Submit the office for a	UHC	proval, submit thesis to the CL library for electronic hiving and publication	PINISH N. J.J.
			CHARACTERISTICS OF A THESIS
		A master's thesis demonstrates mastery of program-related knowledge and exemplifies skills in the application of theoretical, historical, or contextual knowledge to a question, problem, or opportunity as defined in the	In addition to demonstrating discipline-specific knowledge and skills, a master's thesis presents original work, usually resulting from experimentation, observation, data collection, analysis, or artistic activity.	A master's thesis is evaluated by members of the committee as described in the HSH policy on master's theses and projects as well as by the college's associate dean and dean.

*Note that some programs reverse the order of these steps. See your instructor of record for clarification.

student's master's thesis proposal.