

Employer Support for University of Houston–Clear Lake
STEM Curriculum and Instruction Doctoral Applicant _____ has applied for admission to the University of Houston–Clear Lake’s Curriculum and Instruction doctoral (Ed.D.) program. The UHCL Ed.D. program has a selective admissions process. We seek applicants who are academically well prepared. They also need to be dedicated enough to spend the hours of class work, study, and research necessary to complete this degree.

During the time it takes a typical doctoral student to complete the program, it may be necessary to arrange flexible hours for the applicant. Therefore, we ask our applicants to obtain the agreement of their employer recognizing that the flexible hours would enable the doctoral student to attend classes one day a week. These classes begin at 4:00 pm. Also, the applicants may want to engage in a doctoral project that will involve research in their employment site. This also needs your agreement.

Accordingly, before we can admit this applicant, we need you to indicate your willingness to provide flexible time for this applicant to attend classes beginning at 4:00 pm one day a week and to provide an option for doctoral research within your employment site pending approval of the research project.

If you can provide this support, please sign this letter below and return it to the applicant. Thank you very much for your support of this applicant and the UHCL Curriculum and Instruction Ed.D. program.
