

Memorandum of Administrative Policy Statement on Intellectual Property

Area: Academic Affairs

Policy Information

The production of commercially valuable intellectual property is not necessarily the purpose of University research and educational activities, nor the duty of anyone engaged in research and educational activities. The University of Houston-Clear Lake (University) supports faculty who choose to pursue the development of commercially valuable intellectual property. In addition, the University follows the University of Houston System Board of Regents Policy 21.08, which establishes guidelines and responsibilities related to commercially valuable intellectual property.
